By JESSIE E. WADLEY

Friday evening Relief Society and Young Folks met together and enjoyed themselves in a social. Dancing, musical numbers and refreshments were the order of the evening. Ora H. Chipman and Minnie Pulley sang solos. A. P. Warnick, Omar Larson and Reed Warnick sang a trio. The social was in honor of the Relief Society's annual day which is the 15th of March.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Holman of Pleasant Grove, Mrs. Joseph Little and Mrs. Delbert Chipman were out-of-Manila guests.

R. D. Wadley spent Monday in the southern end of the county, looking over the road situation and road materials. He was at Salem, Spanish Fork, Alberta and Payson.

Monday afternoon a meeting was held in the ward meeting house under the direction of the Educational Campaign Committee. There was a good attendance of patrons and children. The speakers were Mr. Parley Christensen of the B. Y. C. of Logan and Supt. Orson Ryan of Carbon county. Two musical numbers were furnished by some of the school children. Mrs. Minnie Pulley sang "Utah, We Love Thee," and a quartette, consisting of Mrs. Pulley, Mrs. W. W. Warnick, A. P. Warnick and Omar Larson sang "Come Where the Lilies Bloom."

W. W. Warnick, also a member of the committee attended the meetings at Landon and Highland. The speakers proved themselves entertaining as well as instructive and the meeting was enjoyed.

Mr. Ryan stated that some of the schools in his county are made up of only children of foreign parents, while others have 75 per cent of this class.

The motion to accept the plans proposed was presented and all were in favor of it.

The committee was entertained at dinner by Bishop and Mrs. H. B. Warnick.

Lyeon Johnson states that he has received the money contributed to him through the efforts of Dan E. Adams and wishes to thank those who so liberally gave for his benefit. He wishes to include in this also those friends outside of Manila.

Estella Johnson who had her tonsils and adenoids removed Saturday by Dr. Grua is improving and expects to be back at school next week.

The baby of D. M. Wadley is recovering quite slowly from a two weeks' illness. Mrs. Wadley's sister, Mrs. Irene Peay who assisted her last week, returned home Sunday, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dan Wilson has been assisting her in the care of the little one this week.

At the Teacher Training meeting held Tuesday evening it was decided to have a social in place of our next meeting, March 30. All officers are invited to be present, next Tuesday and enjoy this closing event of a very successful season's work.

Work was commenced on the laying of pipe for the water system on Monday. Ezra Swenson, Irving Johnson and T. E. Fenton have charge of this part of the work.

R. D. Wadley and Irving Johnson went to Salt Lake City Tuesday to purchase supplies needed to complete the laying of the pipe. Mr. Wadley states that he can put the last of the pipe in, in about three days, provided the materials can be supplied. J. J. and D. M. Wadley are working on that end of the system this week.

Miss Effie Warnick attended the High school tournament held at Salt Lake Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Swenson spent Sunday in Salt Lake. Mr. Swenson's father returned to Manila with them.

Miss Lila Gines was a Provo visitor Friday.

CIDER

To set at rest various stories and to answer numerous inquiries regarding the manufacture and sale of cider, I beg you to give the following statement the widest publicity through the columns of your paper.

The National Prohibition Act provides that no liquor shall be sold for beverage purposes which contains one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume. A "liquor" is construed to include practically any liquid or compound, by whatever name called, containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume fit or which may be used for beverage purposes.

Cider may be manufactured by persons desiring to convert same into vinegar. When this is done, a permit from the Director must be obtained for such act.

Sweet cider containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol by volume may be manufactured and sold without the necessity of obtaining permit, provided such product is put up and marketed in sterile closed containers or is treated by the addition of benzoate of soda, or other substance which will prevent fermentation in such proportion as to insure the alcoholic content remaining below one-half of one percent of alcohol by volume. The responsibility for keeping the alcoholic content below such percentage rests upon the manufacturer, and in any case where cider is found upon the market containing alcohol in excess of the allowed percentage, the manufacturer will be presumed to have manufactured and sold an intoxicating liquor.

Cider, containing less than one-half of one per cent alcohol by volume may be sold by the producer to persons holding permits to manufacture vinegar. If such cider, however, contains one-half of one percent or more of alcohol by volume when removed for conversion into vinegar, it will be necessary that the persons producing same shall hold permits to manufacture cider as above provided and furnish same only upon receipt of permits to purchase.

In the manufacture of cider, sugar or other fermentable substances should, under no circumstances, be added to the apple juice for the purpose of increasing the alcoholic content, inasmuch as such practice is held to constitute the production of a mash fit for distillation within the prohibition of section 3282, Revised Statutes.

It is evident, from reports received by the Director, that more care will have to be exercised by people making cider so as to keep strictly within the spirit, as well as the letter of the law.

MATHONIAH THOMAS,
Federal Prohibition Director.

EASY TO RAISE BANDIT ARMY

Manuel Lozada Made Hunger His Chief Recruiting Sergeant and Thereby Rose to Power.

Manuel Lozada, the Mexican bandit, whose remains now lie in the cemetery near Tepic, in the newly made state of Nayarit, gave the key to the whole Mexican problem by his strategy in organizing armies, declares Charles Johnston, in The Atlantic. Lozada was notable because he waged war against three presidents, Benito Juarez, Lerdo de Tejada and Porfirio Diaz, and because he raised and equipped armies of peons strong enough to attack great cities like Tepic and Guadalajara, in a struggle lasting from 1870 to 1877.

It was Lozada's custom, when a new campaign against the central authorities was in contemplation, to send his bodyguard down from their lairs in the high Sierras to the fertile plains, with orders to cut down all banana plants, thus destroying the chief food supply of the native villages.

The peons starved for a while, and watched their women and children starve, then they came up the mountains in a body and begged Lozada to enroll them in his army of bandits to lead them forth to plunder, which for them meant simply food.

This gives a clue to the situation, declares Mr. Johnston, because it shows that banditry and plunder are the last resources of hungry peons, pressed beyond the verge when their meager sustenance is cut off.

MARKS RICHELIEU'S TRIUMPH

Why Eleventh Day of November Is Known in French History as the "Day of Dupes."

Few people know that the whimsical title, "The Day of Dupes" has been given to the 11th of November, 1630, and that it was so named on the occasion of the triumph of Cardinal Richelieu over his enemies, who imagined they had cast him to the ground, never to rise again.

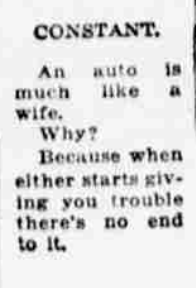

Marie de Medici had prevailed upon her weakling son, Louis XIII, to dismiss him from office as prime minister, and this scheming woman had no difficulty in persuading the fickle and weak-minded king to carry out her wishes, and, furthermore, to raise to that dignity Richelieu's mortal enemy, the Marshal De Merillac.

Richelieu was prevailed upon by his friends to make one last effort to prevent the ruin which seemed ready to fall on him. With this view he proceeded to Versailles, then only a small hunting lodge recently purchased by Louis, where he had an interview with his sovereign.

The result was that the king again surrendered himself into the cardinal's hands, and Richelieu succeeded in binding the chains on Louis more firmly than ever, establishing himself with a sway which was absolute. He did not fail to take vengeance on his enemies, and among others the Marshal De Merillac was brought to the scaffold.
